"The South 40" by JAMES A. SMITH EXTENSION AGENT

The spring hay crop has probably been reduced as much as 50 percent because of the low rainfall. Many years we obtain as much as 50% of total hay production from the spring cutting.

There's an excellent publication on how to produce high quality hay. A copy is being mailed all cattlemen. This is an area of production that we need to give attention. It would mean better nutrition for the cattle and/or a reduction in protein purchases to supplement low quality hay.

The key to high quality hay is time of cutting. it's in your hand to make a quality product.

I have some real conern about long distance telephone calls that some farmers are receiving about the purchase of pesticides.

Recently Carter Martin received such a call and last week T. D. Evans had one.

These are long distance calls that inquire about mailing address, spelling of name and inform you that you are receiving a gift by mail. This is followed-up with an offer for a pesticide usually in lots of 10 gallons or more.

We want Appomattox farmers to be aware that these may not be ligitimate sales representatives, the products may not be registered for the use implied and the prices may be inflated.

You can help us learn more about these people if you will get their name, address, and telephone number. It's important that we know more about these promoters in order to help you.

A farm management institute is planned for this winter at Virginia Tech. It is designed for beginning farmers. This program is designed to head off common management mistakes made by beginning farmers.

It is designed for three weeks. One week on campus and a week back at home. The cost is $230 plus travel and meals.

Details are available from our office.

The April agricultural outlook reports that livestock and livestock products will probably average 10 to 15 percent above a year ago.

The realized net farm income in 1972 was $17.8 million, 1973 a record $30.0, 1974 it was 28.2 and 1975 it dropped to 23.7 million.

Pesticide supplies are likely to be up sharply this year, more than enough to meet an expected 5 percent rise in farm use.

It is projected that a 80 bushel corn crop for this area of the county will cost $2.05 per bushel.

There is a theory held by some gardeners that planting herbs among vegetables will keep insect pest off the vegetable crops.

Two Illinois research workers planted hyssop and thyme to protect cabbage, catnip and wormwood for eggplant, and rosemaries, petunias and marigolds for snapbeans. Seems the herbs didn't do much good. But at least the garden was pretty.

Alabama Baptist

"Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the Kingdom of their Father. Who hath ears to hear, let him hear." St. Matt. 13:43

The regular preaching service was held at the Alabama Baptist Church. Pastor was Rev. Curtis Elliott. Prayer service was at 11:30. The ones in charge were Miss Clarice Venable and Miss Annie Haskins. Everyone joined in the prayer service with songs and prayers. After 15 minutes of prayer service our morning service began. Rev. Elliott read the scripture from St. Matt. 13. His special verse that he spoke from were 45-46-47. Theme was "Sell Out and Buy Jesus". A wonderful sermon was preached by our pastor. The solo was by Mrs. Martha Jenning from Lynchburg. A special song was by the Junior Choir, lead by Miss Pearl Moore, "Old Time Religion."

Music was rendered by the Senior Choir. The visiting deacons were from Mt. Pleasant, Mt. Lyle, White Oak grove and Jordan Baptist Church. A large crowd attended the service.

Miss Alice Moore and Mrs. Mary Bailey are having a program at the Alabama Baptist Church Saturday night at 7, featuring the Gospel Quintet and the Holiness Singers to benefit the Junior Choir.

Sunday night at 7:00 at the Alabama Baptist Church there will be an appreciation service for their pastor, Rev. Curtis L. Elliott. The sermon will be preached by Rev. James Miller. Come out and hear Rev. Miller. We thank each and everyone for helping the Alabama Baptist Church in everyway.

Remember the sick wherever they may be says Mrs. Catherine Haskins.

Fifteen Pointers For Spring Cleaning

*List the jobs, room by room, that have to be done. Cross them off as they are completed.

*Schedule the work for several days or a week to avoid exhausting yourself. Start with the closets and finish with the floors and curtains. it is best to do one room or similar-type job at a time. Always complete one task before starting another.

*Arrange to rent an electric floor scrubber-polisher with a rug-shampooing attachment if you know how to use it but do not have one. You might even want to buy this timesaving appliance.

*Reorganize closets, drawers and cabinets before officially starting spring cleaning. Sort things into three boxes labeled "need," "storage" and "Out." Get rid of useless or unnecessary items.

*Label contents of boxed items you plan to store or number them. Keep a master list of contents for each.

*Repaint badly scuffed woodwork and other items rather than trying - - - usually in vain - - - to scrub them clean.

*Give your vacuum cleaner a good workout. Use it for everything from dusting books and emptied drawers to blowing out dust from under radiators. Vacuuming loose dust and soot from walls, Venetian blinds, lampshades, closet and other shelves simplifies washing and rinsing them.

*Test a small, inconspicuous section of a will, painted or wallpapered, and let dry first if you are not sure about its washability. This also applies to upholstery and lampshades.

*Clean nonwashable walls with the round brush attachment of the vacuum cleaner or with a broom well wrapped in a soft, clean cloth. The well-known wallpaper "doughs" do a fine job on unwashable painted or papered walls.

*Work from the floor to the ceiling in washing walls to avoid streaks which may be hard to remove.

*Wash a small section of a wall at a time. Overlap the cleaned areas. If necessary, rinse and wipe dry.

*Finish washing a wall once you have started. This avoids leaving a cleaning line that may be difficult to blend in later.

*Use a long-handled squeegee for washing windows outside and rinse with a hose. Inside windows, unless coated with a greasy film, may only need a dusting with a dry paper towel. Newest alternate to the spray-on products are the treated paper towels. Some are used dry, others with a bit of water.

*Polish glass, after cleaning, with a lintless cloth, paper towel or crumpled newspaper.

*Brighten aluminum (on windows, doors, etc.) with a soap-filled steel-wool pad. Use stainless-steel cleaner on stainless steel.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Hamburger Noodle Bake

2 pounds ground beef
1½ cups chopped onion
8 ozs. medium noodles, cooked and drained
8 ozs. sharp processed cheese, shredded (2 cups)
2 10¾ oz. cans condensed tomato soup
½ cup chopped green pepper
¾ cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons chopped canned pimento
¼ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups soft bread crumbs
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted.

In skillet, cook beef and onion till meat is lightly browned and onion is tender. Drain off fat. Combine meat and onion with noodles, cheese, soup, 1 cup water, green pepper, chili sauce, pimento, salt and dash pepper. Mix well. Turn into 13 x 9 x 2 inch baking dish. Combine crumbs and butter, sprinkle on top. Bake in 350 degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes or till hot. Trim with green pepper rings (if you have them). Serves 12.

CVCC Drafting Project Fair Held

The First Annual Central Virginia Community College and Design Project Fair was held on Sat., April 24, 1976 at CVCC in Lynchburg, Va.

Ninety-three entries were displayed representing students from area high schools in Amherst, Appomattox, Bedford and Campbell counties and Lynchburg, Altavista, and Bedford cities. Cash awards and ribbons were presented to the winners.

The Drafting Dept. at Appomattox County High School was represented at the event by Danny Hix, Phil Jamerson, Mike Jarrell, and the Drafting II Class. All entries from Appomattox won cash awards and ribbons.

The scale model house entered by the Drafting II Class won first place in the advanced (open) competition and collected a $25.00 cash award. A fifteen dollar cash award of second prize was presented to Phil Jamerson and Danny Hix. Phil entered the Architectual Drawing I competition and Danny Hix entered the Mechanical Drawing III Class. Mike Farrell placed third in the Architectual Drawing I competition and was awarded a $8.00 cash award. Phil, Danny and Mike are all Drafting I students at ACHS

The purpose of the CVCC Drafting Project Fair is to recognize outstanding achievements in the field of Drafting by high school students in the Central Va. area. The project fair also gives students, instructors, and industry an opportunity to observe the progress being made in preparing high school students for a career in drafting.

The Drafting Project Fair was arranged by the CVCC Engineering Technology Dept. headed by Dr. Roger Beeker.

Representatives from area industries served as judges.

Mr. Norman Hansen, Drafting Instructor at ACHS attended the event.
